

We are looking for new employees to strengthen our team:

Export Manager (m/f/o)

Duties and responsibilities:

Your responsibilities include primarily the advising and support of our current international customers and the acquisition of new customers. After comprehensive training concerning our product and sales know-how, you assume responsibility for training our international partners and customers. You represent us at international trade fairs and ensure a strong positioning and the further development of the brand name in each country.

You are also responsible for managing the export business at our Halberstadt location and act as the interface between the accounts you manage and our internal departments such as logistics, product development, quality management, marketing, registration department, etc. You are supported by the export staff.

Your profile:

You have qualified vocational training in commerce, ideally in the field of wholesale and foreign trade or export and sales. Your center of life is already in the region or you are willing to relocate. Furthermore, you are willing to travel internationally.

You have very strong foreign language skills and are willing to use them during advising and sales discussions. You have a pronounced understanding of service, a high degree of flexibility, and outstanding social skills.

What you can expect:

We offer you a responsible, varied, and interesting job that you can structure according to your personal vision in a reputable, successful, and growing company with flat hierarchies for short decision-making processes. A pleasant working atmosphere is the result of personal commitment, teamwork, and support. You can play a decisive role in determining opportunities for personal development through your performance.

For your personal well-being, we offer to you a lunch allowance, free beverages and fresh fruit, and regular back massages by a local physiotherapy practice.
